The system avoids self-interference by synchronizing all transmit and receive signals in the network via the Global Positioning System (GPS).

Our Motorola Wireless Broadband Point-to-Multipoint platform's wireless signals are highly effective in line of sight (LOS) service in environments ranging from small communities to suburban areas to rural locations for a range of 10 miles from each Access Point tower.

Multiple layers of security, including over-the-air DES encryption as standard.

- No major investments in equipment or software
- Exceptionally low acquisition, installation, operation and maintenance costs
